

Dubai Women Establishment Participates in NAWF 2009

Posted on: Tuesday October 20 , 2009 3:31:17 PM (GMT+4)

Submit Press Re

Email | Print

Comment

Recommend this story \(*\)

[\[-\]Te](#)

- To promote the image of UAE Women
- DWE meets with key social and political figures in Lebanon as part of efforts to build a strong network of relationships in the region

As part of DWE's commitment to enhancing regional representation to promote image of UAE women, a delegation from DWE recently attended the 3rd edition the New Arab Woman Forum (NAWF) that was held on 15 and 16 October 2009 Beirut, Lebanon. Upon arrival, their delegation was received by UAE Ambassador Rahma Hussein Al-Za'abi, as well as a number of social and political VIPs.

The Forum provided a unique platform for quality discussion on issues impactin the evolving role of women in Arab society, political life and business, as well a social, political and economic opportunities and challenges inherent in this proc Also discussed was the issue of women and leadership in Arab politics, business society, with emphasis on the impact of changing global economic conditions or women's existing careers and future professional prospects.

Highlighting the importance of DWE's participation in the annual event, Hessa Tahlak, DWE Senior Manager of Research and Analysis, said: "Participating in s an event is highly relevant to DWE's core objectives and strategic focus, as it is platform to exchange ideas among thought leaders and also presents an opportunity to discuss all issues pertaining to the developmental process of wor It is also necessary to emphasize the importance of creating a generation of fer leaders".

As a compliment to DWE's attendance of this regional Forum, the delegation m with a number of high-profile Lebanese political personalities such as Lebanon's President Designated, Saad al-Hariri, H. E. Bahiya Al Hariri, LebanonMinisterofEducationand Higher Education and Randa Berri, President of Lebanese Association for Development, Training and Rehabilitation, where they the opportunity to discuss relevant and topicalissues that affect the Arab woma today. DWE's discussions also allowed for the valuable exchange of ideas towar enhancing relations between Lebanese and Emarati women.

Tahlak added: "The Forum, together with our sidebar discussions with H.E. Bah

RELATED NEWS

- DWEs 4th Emarati Leaders Gathering to Focus on Violence against Women
10 November 2009
- Dubai Women Establishment survey among DEWA employees finds 92% in favour of child-care facilities in the workplace
21 October 2009
- Emirates Airlines Support H.H. Sheikha Manal Art Exchange Program
18 October 2009
- DWE to participate in the 5th Global Meeting of the Womens Forum for the Economy and Society
14 October 2009
- Dubai Ladies Club Concludes Series of Islamic Lectures During Ramadan
14 September 2009

Ads by Google

Al Hariri and other social and political figures, provided an opportunity to present our initiatives for developing and enhancing the integral role of women in society. These initiative concepts were very well received, and have served as potential inspiration for future similar initiatives in other regions within the Arab world”.

The DWE delegation visit to Lebanon took place in parallel with a separate DWE delegation visit to the 5th Global Meeting the Women’s Forum for the Economy and Society in France recently. “We are committed to participating in these remarkable and influential forums as part of DWE’s aim to enhance the presence of Emarati woman in both Arab and global contexts well as to ensure awareness of the latest developments in our field of interest”. Tahlak concluded.

You can find this page on internet at :
<http://www.eyeofdubai.com/v1/news/newsdetail-35488.htm>